Trump: Suicide Squad

Description of the problem

Hands for Hire is in need of a functional website that can match their clients with “caretakers.” We must create a website in which a client can enter information on a job they need done and be matched up with a “caretaker” who can perform said task.

Basic approach to the solution

Hands for Hire has called in our team, Suicide Squad, to create a new website for them in order to match “caretakers” to the users, based on their needs and how high profile the job is. We will need to purchase servers as well as contact potential “caretakers”.

Constraints

Hands for Hire is a new startup company, with small funds, no offices, no salaries for their workers, and only a $2000 budget for hardware. This will provide difficulties for us as their website developers. The website must also be completed by January 1st, 2016 so Hands for Hire can begin their revolutionary work in the new year.

How success is measured

Our success will be measured with Hands of Hire’s approval of the website, as well as their clients’ satisfaction per job and the net profit throughout the fiscal year. The net profit will be measured primarily with the amount of “care packages” sent, and how high profile each “care package” is.
